

To God Be the Glory

In Jesus, and in the church, God is glorified. Paul's prayer is that it be even more glory than we could comprehend since we can all be empowered to live out His life in us. This passage started out rooted in God and His infinite glory and ends in His infinite glory. We find that no matter what we do in the church God is glorified and that's a powerful place to rest in and work out from in love.

Conclusion

How can we be interacting with and praying for one another in light of this passage?

We don't need to understand everything that is before us as we face our lives, but we do need to understand whose hands we're in and whose hands we represent. If love is multi-dimensional, and it represents the very nature of God we can rest in His provision with a glorifying outcome.
